A JOURNEY OF DISCOVERY

FEBRUARY 3 - 12, 2012

*Baja Full Moon
Desert Islands and Whale's 'Tales'*

For our ultimate Baja Journey, we have combined two of Baja's premier adventures with an powerful personal development experience!

Whale watching in Magdalena Bay and hiking and kayaking on Espiritu Santo Island, have long been two of the most precious pearls of adventure travel.

We combine the sublime pleasure of optional kayaking, the magnificence of encounters with the Gray Whales, the tranquility of Magdalena Bay and the splendor of the Baja desert island wilderness with a guided journey of personal discovery.

"The words 'thank you' are completely inadequate in expressing my sincere appreciation for everything you did to make this journey so magnificent."

Adventure & Awareness through the Travel Experience

It is the tradition of Still Water Travel to turn ordinary travel into an intimate journey of discovery.

We serves those interested in:

- Traveling with a true Spirit of Adventure and Awareness
- Shifting perspectives while exploring new ways of seeing themselves and the world
- Revitalizing spirit through travel
- Expanding horizons through a journey of self-discovery
- Sharing conscious travel experiences with others of similar interests.

"The feeling of relaxation and peacefulness experienced on most vacations fade soon after the return to home and work responsibilities. But the Baja whale adventure was unique. It is now several weeks since my return and I marvel at the lingering sense of calm I have experienced.

ABOUT STILL WATER TRAVEL

The name Still Water Travel is derived from a Zen concept that a turbulent and chaotic consciousness, or mind, is limited in its ability to clearly perceive, learn, and expand. Whereas a calmed mind and spirit is better able to experience the world fully with clear awareness.

Thus the image of tossing a large boulder into a turbulent ocean only to see the effect quickly diminished by the chaotic waves of the ocean. But drop the tiniest pebble into the still water of a placid pond and the effect is clear, expansive and sustained.

It is our belief at Still Water Travel that one way to get the most out of the travel experience is to make time and opportunity on the journey to slow the mind, calm the consciousness and allow our senses to fully engage.

Still Water Travel operates quality adventure travel and conscious travel programs at a high level of comfort and professionalism. We do not operate budget travel programs and are committed to the highest standards of client care and support. Because of our attention to detail, many of our travelers return to experience a Still Water Travel program again and again.

Still Water Travel programs are facilitated in locations which inspire and engage the human spirit in deep and profound ways. Either through nature, culture or a combination of both, our journeys are designed to create enriching memories that will last a lifetime.
